So far the only known issue with Overload is that some preset parameter value do not work. Overload stores presets as groups in your user folder. You can check the saved presets by opening the menu inside the current preset window and check "Show Saved". If you want to use the preset but not the save feature, you can delete the group inside the user folder "Overload.xcuserdata/Data/Plugins/Overload". You can keep the groups in the folder if you want to do programming, just copy the group into the folder and rename it. Overload is compatible with Apple's VST, AU and AAX plugins. When you try to use an older VST plugin with Overload, you will see the message "AAX not supported", which means you need to upgrade the plugin.
